As a Photoshop user, you are free to draw or use tools to create new objects (see the Pen tool, which is discussed below), change the colors, make selections and do much more.

Photoshop can be used to do photo retouching, such as correcting problems with color, tone, and resolution, as well as basic photo manipulation that includes cropping, resizing, rotating, and altering brightness. BRUSSELS (Reuters) - The European Union's chief executive on Tuesday said it was essential to continue the development of China's high-tech sector, in the context of global trade tensions. European Union's President of the European Commission Jean-Claude Juncker speaks during a news conference at the EU Commission headquarters in Brussels, Belgium, March 5, 2018. REUTERS/Francois Lenoir European Commission President Jean-Claude Juncker was speaking after meeting Chinese Vice Premier Liu He on the second day of a visit to the EU capital by Chinese President Xi Jinping. "I'm convinced that we should do more to support the development of China's high-tech sector in the presence of a widening trade deficit and growing U.S. technological power," Juncker told reporters. "We have to understand China," he said. "There is a generational change going on in China and we have to accept it." Juncker and Vice Premier Liu discussed trade, in particular the EU's request for talks on Chinese industrial subsidies, and climate change. Wang Dehua, a senior official with the Chinese commerce ministry, said China and the EU had not yet opened negotiations over EU demands for a rollback of Beijing's industrial subsidies. "If we don't have a conclusion, then it does mean there is nothing to say right now," Wang told reporters at the news conference. He said the EU had discussed with China back-channel trade talks, and in formal talks, on how to settle the dispute over subsidies. “We’re discussing the specific parts that we can negotiate now,” he said. “We’re not open to negotiating other trade issues.” China was ready to join the EU in discussing issues related to intellectual property, Wang said. Earlier on Tuesday, EU trade chief Cecilia Malmstrom said she did not see negotiations with China over its industrial subsidies as being impossible. “I think that’s a very wrong conclusion,” she told reporters. “As a matter of fact, I think there are still issues where we can work, and that’s the issue we’re talking about.” Wang said China had never discussed reducing its subsidies on energy-saving equipment such as electric
